To get an even more interactive experience of the show, visit the Squid Game filming sites in Seoul where some of the show's most iconic scenes were filmed.

Join us for the "Squid Game in Seoul" as we follow along the trail of footprints that Squid Game has left throughout the city.

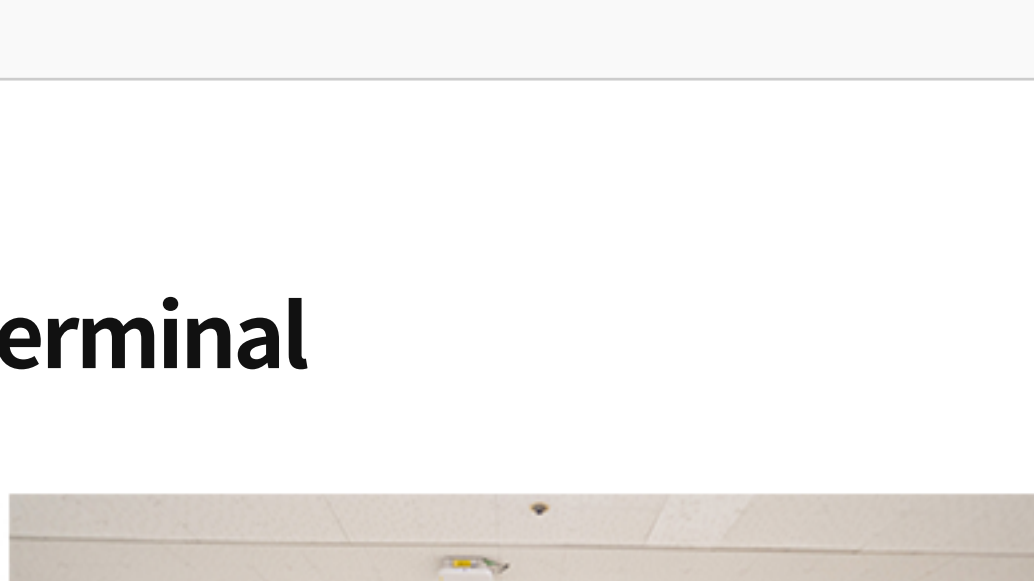

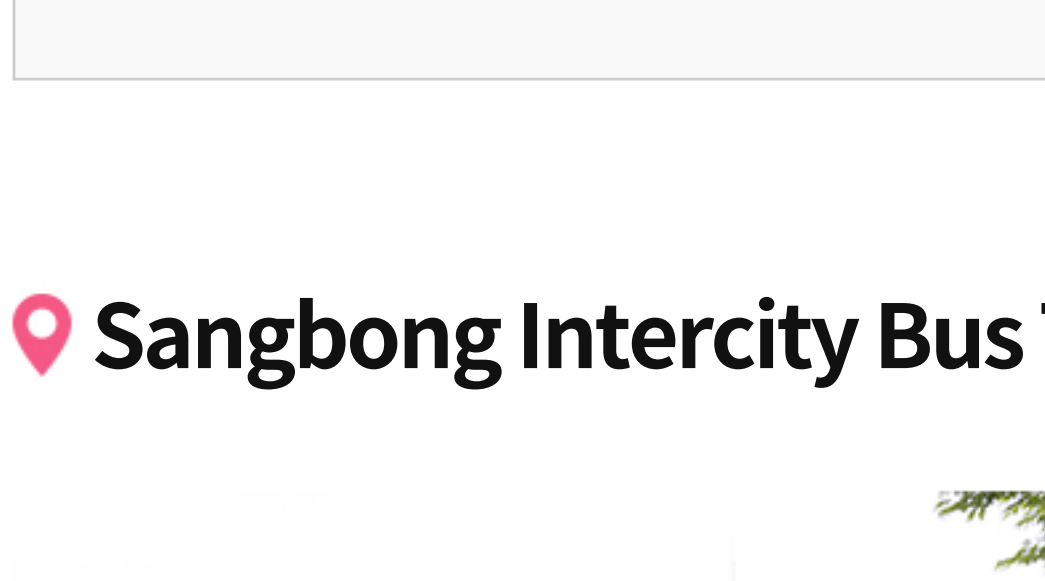

CU Ssangmun Uicheon Branch

CU Ssangmun Uicheon is where, in Episode 2, Gi-hun and Il-nam come back to real life after the game has been stopped and sit eating raw instant noodles and drinking soju. After the two meet, Gi-hun decides to participate in the game again, and the game starts again in full swing. As you sit in the chairs at this convenience store, put yourself in the shoes of Gi-hun from Squid Game who sat in the very same seat, weighing the pros and cons of living in real life versus participating in the game. Since the airing of Squid Game, more and more fans have been taking selfies in front of this convenience store, but since it is illegal to drink inside or outside of the store, we recommend posing with a can of soda instead.

Paldo Dried Fisheries Store in Baekwoon Market

"Sang-woo's Fish Store," owned by Sang-woo's mother in Squid Game is a real store in Baekwoon Market at Ssangmun-dong. The store's actual name is "Paldo Dried Fisheries Store," and just like in Squid Game, it sells dried fish, fresh fish, and other types of seafood. Baekwoon Market is a traditional market that was built in the 1970s and still maintains its vintage style. It is only a 10-minute walk from the beginning of the Bukhansan Dulle-gil walking trail, the perfect place to enjoy a breath of fresh air in the middle of the city.

Try removing the stamped shape from the dalgona without breaking it before you taste this nostalgic snack, which has become an inspiration for the game now trending worldwide.
